Online Rules Exams

Working with Kerry Cochran and Loren Ross I completed a project that automates the creation of our Operating Department Rule Exam books and supports an online version of the annual rules examination. Using the new tool, we updated the rules examination to match our current rulebook replacing some old questions with new ones. Kerry will have new exam booklets printed for this year's crew training classes. When a crewmember registers for crew training online, they are sent an email with an invitation to take the rules examination online. After they complete the online examination, it is automatically scored and the crew training records database is updated. A certification document is automatically created that the crewmember will sign at crew training to document that they took the exam for the current year and will be kept in the volunteer's permanent Operating Department file.

The use of the online exam is voluntary. A volunteer can use the new online exam or take the traditional paper exam at the museum.

2019 Rotary Run

I worked with Eugene Vicknair and his team to promote the 2019 Rotary Run. I created a news item web page that I updated several times about the event. The page had links to the eBay auction, the ticket sales at eventbrite.com, general information about the event and a brief history of the SPMW 208. The news item web page was viewed 1,174 times. The viewers came to the webpage from:
