

Tree Trimming Update - Doty - 10/7/2021

I've started falling trees again. First photo is from Monday when I started, the second is a combination of Tuesday and Wednesday. This is out along the south lead between the picnic grounds and where the power line cuts across on the way through to the city yard. Not easy terrain to work in, almost need to be a mountain goat.

