

San Francisco, Cal. March 12, 1910.

Western Pacific Railway Company,
Mills Building, San Francisco

Gentlemen:

This is to say that whereas you are today to pay us the final amounts due on our construction contracts in California known as Permanent Contracts "B", "C" and "D" and we are to give you final, full and complete releases of the same, the delivery of such releases to you is absolute and unconditional and these settlements are not in any wise to affect or be affected by any other contracts or negotiations between us.

THE UTAH CONSTRUCTION COMPANY

By (Signed) W. H. Wattis

Vice-President.
