Dining Car and Restaurant Service

Dining cars serving all meals and specializing in California products are operated on all Western Pacific trains.

Restaurants are located at Portola, Gerlach and Wendover.

Restaurants are also maintained on the upper and lower decks of the Ferry Steamer "E. T. Jeffery," and passengers on No. 3 desiring breakfast need be in no hurry, as the boat remains in the slip after arrival in San Francisco.

Dining observation cars, featuring 50c club breakfast and 85c table d'hote luncheon and dinner, are operated on Sacramento Northern trains 1 and 8—"The Meteor," and trains 2 and 9—"The Sacramento Valley Limited."

Industrial Opportunities

For complete information regarding diversified farm lands and industrial and commercial opportunities in territory served by the Western Pacific, address J. W. Grace, Industrial Commissioner, 842 Mills Building, San Francisco.

Feather River Inn

This delightful resort is open from June until September and affords an ideal spot for the vacationist, and at which the transcontinental passenger may enjoy a pleasant stopover.

BECAUSE now you can go in new luxury and comfort and with speed all the way—on the Malolo, one of the world's great ships—and because you can rest and play at one of the newest and most beautiful of hotels, The Royal Hawaiian at Waikiki Beach.

The Malolo is not alone the smart way to travel to Hawaii—it's also the swiftest route—only four days from San Francisco's Golden Gate to Honolulu's Golden Shores. And within a few hours' journey are the rare and varied allurements of Kauai, Maui and Hawaii, isles of enchantment.

The Malolo sails from San Francisco every other Saturday. Seven other Matson liners afford weekly sailings from San Francisco to Honolulu and sailings every 21 days from Seattle or Portland. To the South Seas and Australia, every 21 days.
